SUVs will fill 2021 launch calendar

The year's blockbuster rollouts will include SUVs in all shapes and sizes, electric, hybrids and some 'latecomer' brands

LAKSHMIKANTH
The year 2020 would be an eminently forgettable one for most of us, our best from the auto industry. The pandemic had delivered a body blow for the industry and the dealer community that is highly dependent on sustained sales volumes generating their revenues.
The last few months have seen a normalization of volumes and some pent-up demand has managed to help the industry bounce back. The fiscal year's cumulative sales will still end up in negative territory, but that isn't going to deter the minds of the auto industry leaders. There is a lot of optimism coming up during the year, at least some fear has been carried away from 2020.

SUVs galore
The new year has already seen some significant launches and in the coming weeks quite a few more have been lined up. The Aston Martin DBX is already out, as is the new Audi A5. The BMW 3 Series

Creta (hater) and facelifted versions of a few of its existing models. For the most exciting news to come from the Korean brand during 2021 will be the official launch of the N performance brand in India in what could help open up the market for mass market performance branding and marketing. Hyundai is likely to consider introducing the 120 N line first. This will feature enhancements to the design and possibly even performance of the regular i20 with unique 'N' brand identity.

Maruti Suzuki's most significant launch during 2021 is likely to be the new Jimny. After much deliberation and delay because of the underlying platform of the Jimny was considered expensive and potentially unsuitable for India, the sheer amount of interest that the vehicle's display at the Auto Expo seems to have convinced the folks at MSIL. If it brings in the same popular 4x4 format that the Jimny is sold in worldwide, it will be one of the smallest SUVs at about 2.4 metres. But given its previous experience with 4x4s and the fact that the market hasn't matured enough to deserve them, Maruti will be re-engineering and marginally redesigning the Jimny into a 4x4 for India. It is likely to be launched with the mighty pop-up 1.6-litre petrol engine and a manual

New Tata Safari

CVT gearbox. The Jimny is likely to be sold through the NEXA channel.
JCA India's leap has just launched the new 2021 Creta. During the year, it will be adding two more models to its India portfolio including a 'new' Skoda, which has just announced that its midsize SUV based on the locally developed Modulare network. It may set up brand stores and mark its formal entry into the country this year. Local assembly may be considered at a later date. We won't be surprised if Tata chooses to mark its debut with the launch of the Model X.

The other luxury SUV that are likely to be introduced later this year include the Porsche Taycan, the Audi e-tron. BMW's new brand the Jaguar i-Pace. Some of these would have made it to market last year if not for the pandemic action in the EV segment. It is not only going to be concentrated to the luxury and premium segments, but we will increasingly be seeing at least mass affordable ones. The Mass market brands like Tata Motors, Maruti & Mahindra and Maruti Suzuki will be looking to make further inroads with their own affordable compact EVs. All of them from Tata, and a couple of compact EV SUVs, including the Rivian EV from Mahindra and another as you mentioned are all likely to be launched this year.

While the company hasn't confirmed it, rumors also abound that Renault may launch an electric version of the Kwid. When the Rivian EV makes it to the market, it is expected to be directly in competition with a Tesla Model 3. The American brand is expected to be directly in competition with a Tesla Model 3.

near roads, that could achieve what the original petrol model set out to do... truly democratize the EV. Priced well under $10 lakh, this can become the 'People's EV'. Renault's first launch for 2021 will of course be the Kiger subcompact SUV based on the same platform as the Tiggo and the Nissan Magnite, that will attempt to deliver Renault's unique design lineage elements that we have seen in the 2020 Kwid.

New entrant
After years of hesitating, French car maker Citroen is finally going to enter the Indian market this year. Through a very late entrant, the brand is expected to launch a competitive first product in the new CS Aircross. This will be a premium midsize sports utility vehicle that will take on the likes of the Hyundai Tucson and the Toyota Fortuner. The SUV's NVA, which is originally scheduled to be launched last year, will now be unveiled on February 1, this year. It could be offered with a diesel engine, though the information available now seems to indicate that it will be offered with a 1.5-litre petrol engine and a CVT gearbox.

Honda Motor plans to trim India operations

Country continues to be a priority market, says Activa maker

SIDDHANTH KUMAR
Honda Motor Company is trimming its operations in India. The company's recent voluntary restructuring scheme (VRS) for two consecutive years has raised questions on its India strategy.
According to market watchers, Honda is working to save costs, offering VRS to one of the few steps for long-term sustainability. Both Honda Motorcycles & Scooters India (HMI) and Honda Cars India (HCI) maintain that they are realigning their production strategies for better operational efficiency with the objective of 'long-term business sustainability' in these three main markets.
The company said it will not halt any operations in India.

share of 55 per cent in FY2020, which came down to 37 per cent in FY21-22. Honda has several unmovable assets, the closure of the Greater Noida plant added another. In Cuttack facility is being unused, and Nagasaki facility (Kajiharu) is not fully utilized, said an industry veteran.
In the case of Honda Motorcycles business in India, the company and employees the number now position in the market segment and is the second largest manufacturer in the overall two-wheeler market.
But Honda's re-structure plan HMI has also announced VRS scheme for its employees above the age of 40 or who have completed 25 years in the company. Last July, HCI had introduced VRS for its employees and paid one 1.45-15 lakh as compensation to those who opted for it.

VRS scheme
In order to sustain existence in the competitive two-wheeler market, it is essential to continue with high efficiency and competitiveness. Therefore, the management has introduced a VRS scheme for all the employees. Ninem Sharma, Director Head - General Affairs, HMI, said in a letter to the employees, which has been received.
The company's directors are not eligible under the scheme, he wrote. The scheme will be effective from January 5 and will remain open till January 23. However, the management as it is a restructuring scheme without prior intimation and paid one 1.45-15 lakh as compensation to those who opted for it.

As benefits, HMI has calculated the formula as - three months gross salary into completed year of service, six months basic pay. Variable Dearness Allowance (VDA) from remaining year of service and an average of 12 months into completed year of service.
The first 400 eligible employees who accept the offer will get an early bid incentive of 55 lakh each and 4 VRS up to 100 employees, which will be paid to the applicants. The latter said, however, the company has also capped the maximum amount for applicants for permanent workers and junior Engineer (JE) and above. For instance, for senior manager or above, it is 100 lakh. It has been capped at 72 lakh, at 67 lakh for managers, for deputy manager at 44 lakh and 45 lakh for assistant executives.
HMI has production facilities at Mahesar (Haryana), Alwar (Rajasthan), Narsapur (Karnataka) and Vishnupur (Gujarat) with a combined capacity of 6.6 million units annually. The latter has more than 4,000 employees in Mahesar.

The Indian auto industry is going through a challenging phase for the past three years considering the prolonged demand slowdown and overall economic fallout from Covid-19 pandemic. It gives an opportunity to these associates who may wish to explore other dimensions in their life and progress them with best learning the industry financial and healthcare benefits, while helping the organization improve its overall operational efficiency," the company said.
'Priority market'
The company added that it still has multiple business opportunities to be a priority market for Honda.
Recently, in an interaction with Businessline, Rajesh Goel, Senior Vice President and Director, Marketing & Sales, HCI, said that taking good or not a relative question. "We don't have a mature portfolio when compared to the competitors, but there is a certain untapped volume available in each segment we are present in. For instance, City after the launch, is the market leader with around 45 per cent market share and Activa is second and in some markets, it is number one in the segment," he said.
On discontinuation of the City and City Goel said, "My first step is to be able to implement and follow the direction to get the desired results and when it happens, the entire playing field is available to have a look at and when a required."
Rajesh Gupta, Director at HMI Mahesar, said, "They have some decisions which didn't work well over the recent past, like the closed plant. They launched for City and City, which didn't really work well."

Ather 450X launched in more markets

By Q1 2021, it will be available in 27 cities, says manufacturer

ANURAG KUMAR
Electric scooter manufacturer, Ather Energy, has announced the launch of the Ather 450X across 16 additional cities in the country and stated that it will be available in 27 cities before March 2021.
The scooter is expected to be directly in competition with a Tesla Model 3. The American brand is expected to be directly in competition with a Tesla Model 3.

Covid-19 vaccines get the go-ahead across the globe

OLIVIERO TOSCANI
Vaccines are on the march across the globe, as AstraZeneca, Moderna and Genentech Inc. get the go-ahead for their Covid-19 vaccines in different countries.
AstraZeneca said its vaccine had received emergency use authorization in India, Argentina, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Mexico and Morocco.
The approval in India is an important milestone as it will improve the supply chain but also a large number of countries around the world. The company said referring to its affiliate with Serum Institute of India (SII).
AstraZeneca (AZ) has submitted a substantial data package to support a conditional marketing authorization for its Covid-19 vaccine to the European Medicines Agency (EMA), as part of an ongoing rolling review process and will continue to work closely with the EMA to seek approval in the coming weeks, it said.
The company was also working with the World Health Organization (WHO) to enable it to use in low-income countries. Pfizer had recently got the emergency use listing approval from the WHO for its vaccine.

Safety, efficacy data
Further, AZ said, it was conducting a large trial in the US as part of a global programme. In total, the University of Oxford and AstraZeneca expected to enroll more than 60,000 participants worldwide. Additional safety and efficacy data will continue to be generated from ongoing clinical trials, the company said.
American biotech company Moderna said, the European Commission has granted conditional marketing authorisation for its Covid-19 vaccine. The Russian Druzhba Investment Fund (DFI) said its vaccine was registered by health authorities in Bolivia. The 500 million registered under the company's use authorization procedure, based on approval by AGCMI based on the results of phase III clinical trials in Russia, without additional trials in Bolivia, RFI said.

Spain's IIS has been registered in Argentina under a similar procedure it added. Phase III clinical trial data submitted for the vaccine to be registered in Serbia and Belarus in January and February in Denmark.

By Q1 2021, it will be available in 27 cities, says manufacturer
